

As a resident of Indiana, I want to speak out against proceeding 02-278. Since its inception I have found the Indiana DO NOT CALL LIST as the best piece of government intervention to protect the privacy of the American home. I am particularly alarmed that banks feel the need to be so competitive that they would harass the very customers they would hope to attract. I for one do not want to see banks included as protected groups from no call lists. If they want my business they merely need to advertise in the printed media their fantastic deals and I will come. But call me on the phone and I will not come to the new bank and I will consider leaving my current bank, which is one of the petitioners.
